ANNEX

Organization of the list of speakers for the Special Commemorative Meeting of the General Assembly on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the United Nations

1. The list of speakers for the Special Commemorative Meeting will be established on the basis of six meetings, each meeting having a fixed number of speaking slots.

2. The first speaker in the Special Commemorative Meeting will be the Head of State of the host country of the Organization.

3. The list of speakers for the Special Commemorative Meeting will be initially established as follows:

(a) The name of the Member State that will have first choice of a meeting and of a speaking slot will be drawn by the Secretary-General or his representative from a box containing the names of all Member States participating in the Special Commemorative Meeting;

(b) Member States will be invited to participate in the establishment of the list of speakers in the English alphabetical order beginning with the Member State selected by drawing;

(c) Six boxes will be prepared, each one representing a meeting and each one containing numbers corresponding to speaking slots at that meeting;

(d) Each Member State will first choose a meeting and then draw from the appropriate box the number indicating the speaking slot in the meeting;

(e) A number of speaking slots at each meeting will be reserved for observers participating in the Special Commemorative Meeting, which will first choose a meeting and then select a speaking slot from a different set of six boxes. The order of their choice will be determined by the drawing of the name of one of the participating observers, after which the English alphabetical order will be followed.

4. The establishment of the list of speakers for the Special Commemorative Meeting as outlined in paragraph 3 of the present annex will take place at a meeting of the Preparatory Committee for the Fiftieth Anniversary of the United Nations [to be held on _____ 1995].

5. Subsequently, the list of speakers for each meeting will be rearranged in accordance with the established practice of the General Assembly when organizing each category of speakers, following the order resulting from the selection process outlined in paragraphs 3 (d) and (e) of the present annex:

(a) Heads of State will thus be accorded first priority, followed by vice-presidents, crown princes/princesses, heads of government, ministers, permanent representatives and observers;

(b) In the event that the level at which a statement is to be made is subsequently changed, the speaker will be moved to the appropriate category, following the order resulting from the selection process outlined in paragraphs 3 (d) and (e) of the present annex;

(c) Participants may arrange to exchange their speaking slots in accordance with the established practice of the General Assembly;

(d) Speakers who are not present when their speaking turn comes will be automatically moved to the last speaking slot within their category.

6. In order to accommodate all speakers at the Special Commemorative Meeting, statements should be limited to five minutes, on the understanding that this will not preclude the circulation of more extensive texts.

7. The full text of all speeches made at the Special Commemorative Meeting will be subsequently published in a bound book.
